

ANNOUNCE WARSAW CAPTURED

OFFICIAL WIRELESS FROM BERLIN REPORTS OCCUPATION OF POLISH CAPITAL DURING MORNING. PETROGRAD QUIET.

NO DENIAL IS MADE

England, France and Russian Headquarters Neither Affirm Nor Deny German Announcement.

BERLIN, WIRELESS TO TUCKERSON, N. J., AUG. 5.—WARSAW WAS TAKEN THIS MORNING BY GERMAN TROOPS ACCORDING TO OFFICIAL ANNOUNCEMENT MADE AT GERMAN ARMY HEADQUARTERS.

The fall of Warsaw marks the culmination of the greatest sustained offensive movement of the European war. Three before Teutonic armies have knocked at its gates, only to be denied by the strength of its defenses and the resistance of the forces holding it.

Apparently impregnable in the face of direct attack, it was compelled to capitulate before the sweep of a vast movement which threatened to encircle the capital and with it the Russian army engaged in the campaign of which it was the storm center.

The movement began in Galicia in May, when the Russians were taken and the Russians were driven over the Galician border.

London, Aug. 5.—To the north of Warsaw the Russians are now being driven back by the Germans.

Desperate battles still are prevailing along the Narew river, the main line of defense of the city.

Russ Destroy Turb Ship. A significant phase of the near eastern operations which has passed almost unnoticed is revealed in an announcement from Petrograd.

The persistence of the Turks in building these ships despite their continued destruction is accepted here as a measure of desperate need of supplies.

WARSAW WAS CHIEF STRONGHOLD FOR THE DEFENSE OF POLAND

Guarded by a formidable plan of fortifications and by fortified towns, which built a circular line around the metropolis, Warsaw was the best defended city in Eastern Europe.

SCENES IN GALICIA AS RUSSIANS FLED BEFORE TEUTONIC FOES

Austrians repairing roads blown up by Russians; Galician refugees returning home; Germans pursuing Russ with Red Cross dogs.

These pictures were taken in Galicia just after the Austro-German forces had driven the Russians back across their own frontier. The Russians in their retreat tore up the railroads, blew up bridges and did everything else they could to retard the progress of their pursuers.

In the southwest, Blonie in the west, Pultusk and Sierp in the north, and Praga across the Vistula to the east. The most powerful of these fortresses is Nowy Georgiewsk.

The floods now and then prove to be a serious obstacle. Nowy Georgiewsk fortress lies upon the confluence of the Bug and Vistula, and the swampy stretches near it are part of its scheme of defense.

The Vistula cleaves through this district, through fortresses before Warsaw, through the heart of the metropolis, and through fortresses to the German frontier.

"Horne's Oak"

There was a tradition, as old as Shakespeare's time, that one Horne, a keeper in Windsor park, hung himself upon a certain oak tree and that it was ever after haunted by his ghost. Some say the tree was inadvertently cut down in 1796, and others that it stood until blown down in 1863. The British Encyclopedia recognizes the legend without vouching for its truth, and says that Queen Victoria planted a young oak on the spot where the old "Horne oak" blew down in 1863.

WINNERS WILL GET PREMIUMS AT FAIR;
TEN CENT FARE

Prizes will be Awarded Successful Contestants in All Classes Before Fair Closes on the Fourteenth.

Secretary Harry Nowlan has decided to establish a precedent at the Janesville Fair the coming week, that has seldom been practiced at neighboring fairs in past years. The idea of paying or awarding all winners in the various departments the cash or ribbon premiums before the fair closes will be commenced.

In past years, especially last year, winners waited for their premiums several days, and some a week or more. This means that before the fair closes on the afternoon of Saturday, the 14th, every prize winner in every department will have received his or her premium. Race winners will be paid immediately following the races at the judges' stand.

Fred Clemons, who is acting as assistant secretary to Mr. Nowlan, is ready to receive entries in any department at his office at any time desiring of entering any of the various contests, may file their name with Mr. Clemons by calling at his office in the Jackson building.

All buildings and barns are being cleaned thoroughly this week by a large force of men, who expect to have the grounds in tip-top condition by the close of the week. Large numbers continue to pour in, especially in the stock department. The fire engine was put to work yesterday pumping out the excess water in the cesspools that border the tracks, in hopes of having the courses dried out by Saturday or Monday. The engine force was in charge of Assistant Engineer Murphy.

Ten Cents to Grounds. The fair board is making arrangements with the city officials to set a nominal charge for riding and from the grounds. Many visitors last year, coming to attend the fair, were not anxious about paying twenty-five cents for a few blocks ride, and all local car owners who used their machines to convey people to and from the grounds during the fair, will probably be forced to charge ten cents, or pay a license fee of ten dollars per day.

Students' Attention. Elmer Barber of the high school manual training department, announced that he will use the high school building tomorrow to receive any furniture or other articles which manual training students might care to exhibit at the fair. Mr. Barber urges his students to enter articles, and says he will classify them. The department will enter several handmade articles to be in line for the prizes.

JULY MAIL REPORT FOR RURAL ROUTES

82,225 Pieces are Delivered During Past Month to People Living on Routes Out of Janesville.

The July rural mail report, for mail delivered and collected on the rural routes of this city, shows that 82,225 pieces of mail of five kinds were delivered, and 1,704 pieces of four kinds were collected.

The report has been made by Postmaster J. J. Cunningham, and is interesting information. The various classes of mail delivered are: first class, 1,775.13 pounds; second class, 12,711 pieces, weighing 1,249.7 pounds; third class, 12,711 pieces, weighing 2,433.4 pounds; fourth class or parcel post, 1,263 pieces, weighing 2,433.4 pounds; and bulk mail, 258 pieces, weighing 33.1 pounds. The total number of pieces of mail delivered during July amounted to 82,225 pieces, weighing 12,626.11 pounds.

As the mail collected by the rural carriers does not include the official government mail, only four classes are collected. The total of 704 pieces were collected last month, weighing a total of 1,175.13 pounds. The amount of first class mail collected was 1,007 pieces, weighing 1,249.7 pounds; second class, 83 pieces, weighing nine pounds; third class, 1,270 pieces, weighing 2,433.4 pounds; and parcel post or fourth class, 323 pieces, weighing 661.10 pounds.

The first class mail consists mostly of letters, the weight scarcely running high in pounds, while the third and fourth classes are much heavier.

BANK TAXATION BILL PASSES CLOSE VOTE

Opposition to Measure Declared It Will Reduce State Revenue by Huge Sum.—Given Third Reading.

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—The assembly today, following state banks to be taxed under the state income tax law, at their option, the opposition to which has been based on the claim that it will reduce state revenue by $400,000 a year, was sent to third reading in the senate last night by a vote of 12 to 10, as follows:

For the bill: Ackley, Barwig, Baxter, Eichler, Cunningham, Cleveland, Fairchild, Kellogg, Mulberger, Holman, Staudenmayer, Whitman—12.
Against: Albers, Boshaard, Bray, Chamberlain, Jennings, Martin, Monk, Perry, Scott, Skog—10.

Paired-Bennett for, Arnold, against Hanson for, Stevens against.

An amendment by Senator Kellogg was first introduced, increasing the rate of taxation from 10 to 12 1/2 percent upon the taxable income of the banks.

Bill Opposed. Chairman Benson, tax commission, was called before the senate to explain the provisions of the bill. He said the commission took no stand one way or another on it. He was in favor of the measure, but it was not from the personal property tax, and admitted that in a measure this bill departed somewhat from the rule of uniformity in taxation. City Clerk F. F. Leitch, Milwaukee, presenting opposition to the bill, said the present tax is not exorbitant comparing bank taxes with railroad and other classes of property; that the bill would increase the Milwaukee revenues by $100,000 annually, that it violates the rule of uniformity and is a wrong delegation of legislative power to the holders in banks, and that there is nothing in the bill to prevent banks from converting securities into United States bonds and thus escaping taxation. The bill was passed for final passage later in the week.

Kill Aid Bill. The bill abolishing the office of state claim agent was tabled. The local car owners who used their machines to convey people to and from the grounds during the fair, will probably be forced to charge ten cents, or pay a license fee of ten dollars per day.

A new bill by Senator Bennett provides that the council in commission governed cities shall elect one of its members to the board of education, such selection to be made at the first regular meeting of the council after the passage and publication of the act. Senator Bray's substitute to the bill regulating all railroads and bus lines to take out a license as a common carrier with the railroad commission. In first and second class cities the bond for jitneys shall be $5,000. In third and fourth class cities it shall be in an amount determined by the city authorities, but not to exceed $5,000. Jitneys shall display a sign two inches high reading, "Bonded for $5,000." The bill makes the act effective Oct. 1, 1915.

WOODWARD TO HEAD REFORM MOVEMENT

Former Warden at Waupun Named as President of Prison Reform Association.—Gives Statement.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Sheboygan, Aug. 5.—The national headquarters of prison reform and crime prevention has selected the Rev. Daniel Woodward, until recently warden of state prison at Waupun, as superintendent of the prison reform and crime prevention movement of the west, with headquarters at Butte, Montana.

In a statement to Sheboygan Press today Mr. Woodward said: "The board informs me that since the death of Dr. Hindley who resigned the presidency of Weeping Water College to become the western superintendent, they have been looking for a man to carry on the well begun work. Together with five other propositions for service, I took the offer of the national board under consideration and after several weeks have decided for the present at least to give my time to platform and personal work in advancing the great work of prison reform, it being my opinion that the movement has only begun its noble work and that the demand of the prison is for practical and experienced social workers, with prison men for leaders. For it is held among rational lines and makes the same rapid progress in the next ten years that it has made in the last five, the whole correctional system will have undergone a change. The work has only begun and I will contribute my time and influence to such an uplifting and Christ-like work."

Mrs. Woodward will continue making her home in Waupun.

JANESVILLE MARKETS.

Retail Prices.

The prevailing weather has had its effect on the farmers near Janesville, and most of them are holding onto their corn for dear life. The fact that the matter is that there is such little hope of a good crop this year, that farmers are not so sure of what chances they are taking by parting with what they have. The grain houses and feed mills are receiving urgent calls for corn, but cannot give up their hold on account of the holding back by the farmers.

The reports from the farmers near the city are to the effect that all crops are water soaked. Corn that should be nearly shoulder high is not yet knee high. The wheat should have been cut in July, is still in the fields, soaked, and all other crops are in a similar condition.

HAVE NO STARS IN HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS

Knock Out of Eddie McGorty is a Big Surprise.—Notes of the Padded Circle.

The heavyweight class is still suffering from a dearth of talent, and judging from the outcome of several recent bouts, several heavyweights were alleged to be stars have glimmered out. Gunboat Smith has been a trial horse in a number of bouts around and in New York and the result has been that none have shown any great marked ability. Gunner Smith has been trounced often and is not really a first class heavyweight, having shipped from the top during last winter.

Winert, the Gotham heavyweight, looks to be the best of the lot outside of the possible exception of the giant, Jim Coffey, who was looked upon as a world beater three months back. Former champion Corbett brought to the front a giant named Tom Cowley, born in England, and after clearing up in the Antipodes, Corbett brought his protégé to America for fame and fortune. His first real bout was with Gunner Smith, and Cowley was given a hard time. If Smith was able to whip Corbett, wonder if it is a cinch he will not be beating Winert within the next few days, at least.

One of the biggest surprises experienced in ring affairs during the last two weeks was the fact that Eddie McGorty, the Oshkosh wonder, was knocked out in fifteen rounds by Darby, in a bout at Sydney, Australia.

This is the first time in the career of the Wisconsin middleweight that he ever took the count. The Australian champion, who won that title last year from left Smith, turned the trick.

Billy Kramer, the Milwaukee middleweight, who battled Hal Clark here a year ago, is scoring victories in Australia, while McGorty is losing and for once Kramer is being put on a punch.

His first opponent was knocked down in fifteen rounds and the Cream City fighter fought another twenty round draw at Brisbane.

When the boxing activities begin this fall, much is expected from young Joe Shugrue, the sensational Jersey lightweight, as he has recovered the use of his eyes and will be fit for the ring after a few months of resting.

Shugrue during his bout in New York showed more real championship ability than any other lightweight, having outpointed Welsh twice. He only lacks a punch to be champion, having a world of class along other fighting lines.

Sporting men have discussed the matter of boxers wearing the American colors, and while it is the general opinion this is right in the case of an international match, it is decidedly cheap to wear the Stars and Stripes in minor bouts. Many alleged boxers crawl between the ropes with a number of colors to attract a cheap amount of attention and it is put forth as being degrading to the colors or flag.

Charley White, the Chicago pride, will give Young Brown, of New York, another chance to demonstrate whether or not the knockout which he scored on Brown was a fluke or not. They are to meet on Labor Day and Brown declares McPartland and White won't give him the fight, which White won with his wicked left hook because Brown rushed him unguarded, being over-confident.

Young Agham, the middleweight, who has given Clabby and Gibbons a brisk run for honors, is not afraid to take chances with the light heavies, and recently gave George Rodel, the champion, a beating. It appears the Agham is too much a dancing artist to land the title crown against Gibbons.

The battle between Gibbons and Pauley McPartland, signed for September 11th will be one of the biggest matches staged within the last year or two. If the bout goes through, the old disputable question will be settled, "who is the best?"

Half a dozen times these two premier fighters have been ready to sign, but high figures kept them apart. At last they found a promoter who was willing to back the fight for $32,500 and with this fortune in sight, they may mix affairs.

GUS CHRISTIE WINS OVER FARMER IN MARINETTE BOUT

Marinette, Wis., Aug. 5.—Using a left to great advantage on an iron jaw, Gus Christie of Milwaukee won decisively from Ed Farmer of Oshkosh in a ten round bout here Wednesday night.

Christie, boxing in better form than he has in any of his Milwaukee fights, short jabs and springs at will, enough of them to knock out any ordinary fighter, but Farmer, whose great asset seems to be an ability to assimilate plenty of punishment, always came back for more. Even in the tenth round he was smiling and still trying to stick over a right. Six times during the bout he swung wild, but Christie saw the punch coming each time and side stepped.

Pat Moran has piloted the Phillies into first place in the National League. When recently asked the question, "What are your chances on successful management of a big league club?" this veteran of world champion teams replied: "I'm a novice at this sort of thing." He really meant it, too.

Christie simply going along playing with the ability and pep we have and sticking together for a common cause," he added. He seems to have the right dope.

TWIN BEATING PUTS SOX DOWN A NOTCH

Detroit Goes Ahead of Slipping Sox When Washington Wins a Double Header.—Cubs Idle Again.

Washington, Aug. 5.—Washington shoved the slipping White Sox into third place yesterday by winning a double header, the first game going by the score of 1 to 0 and the second one 3 to 1. As the result of the double the Sox will have to take the next three games straight to have an edge on the Senators.

The first game was handed to the Washington club in the first inning when Murphy, Weaver and Blackburn landed the Senators their only run. Scott, who pitched air-tight ball and Boehling had the Sox thoroughly mastered. Cicotte and Gallia pitched a deadlock for four innings in the second game, and then the Senators got to the Sox heavier for two runs. In the seventh the Sox put a score across. In their half the Senators made it sure with the third tally. Weak batting in both games for the pitching was faulted and his would have made up for the errors.

Rain; Cubs Idle.—Chicago, Ill., Aug. 5.—Rain interfered with the Cubs again, stopping a double header that was staged at the Cubs' grounds with Philadelphia yesterday. The Boston Braves play the Cubs today and the series will be one of importance to both teams, the Braves being up for second place and confident of reaching the top by tripling on the Cubs. Captain Johnny Evers will be serving time for his rowdy actions with Manager Clarke at Pittsburgh and the Braves will be without his services during the series.

PHILOSOPHY OF SAM CRAWFORD

These are a few tenets in the philosophy of Sam Crawford, Detroit's famous outfielder: "Baseball is a great game if you know what to do with yourself after you get into it. "Never dissipate. "Improper food will shorten a ball player's career as quickly as carousing. "Never belittle the other fellow. The kid coming up is liable to be a bigger star some day than the fellow going out. "A ball player cannot afford to take chances on ending his career. It is an uncertain game, at best, and it will always take the best you have and ask for more. When you are through, it has no place for you. "Save your money. If you don't save the other fellow will help you spend it. That won't get you anything."

SOME CLASS TO THE O'NEILL FAMILY: JIMMY IS LATEST MEMBER TO SHINE

Jimmy O'Neill.

If Jimmy O'Neill, who is now starring for the Utica team of the New York State league, goes to the big show, and he likely will for Detroit and the Giants have made good offers for him, he will be the fourth member of the family of J. P. O'Neill, of Minooka, Pa., to get as high as big league baseball. Jimmy is a brother of Steve O'Neill, of the Cleveland Americans, and of Mike and Jack O'Neill, who formed a brother battery for the St. Louis Nationals in 1901.

BARNEY OLDFIELD'S CAR SETS NEW SPEED MARK OVER CHICAGO COURSE

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)
Chicago, Aug. 5.—"Well, I guess that puts the burden of proof on Resta," grinned Barney Oldfield as the old master pulled up to a group of friends at the speedway this morning, after finishing the lap of the mile oval at the rate of 110.16 miles per hour with his French Delage car, driven in public in America for the first time this morning. Oldfield, the first of the starters in the big Oldfield, Resta, Burman, Cooper match scheduled for the speedway next Saturday, was out.

Resta's best lap of the course with his Derby winning Peugeot was at the rate of 110 miles an hour after he had ample time for practice and adjusting his carburetor to the Maryland altitude and atmosphere. With but a few laps trial Barney bested the Italian's record for the track and declares he can add a full two miles an hour to the present mark. As the grizzled veteran was never charged with being boastful, his prediction of his future speed must be accepted as being at least near the truth.

"Neither Burman nor Cooper will worry me," continued Barney. "Cooper is a nice little fellow and comes from a great state, California, but his car is not within five miles an hour as fast as my new car. Burman holds the world's record for riding his horse to death in races, but he will never get close to the front if Resta is as swift as I think he will prove. The race will be won as fast as 105 miles an hour average and I am allowing for at least one tire change. This will be the supreme drive of my career and would give just half my part of the stakes to get Ralph De Palma in the race."

LEACH CROSS ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT FROM RING

New York, Aug. 5.—Leach Cross has fought his last fight. The scrappy fighter, who has been a lightweight contender for years, always within sight of the championship but never reaching it, is through. From his summer camp at Bradley Beach the word came on Wednesday from Leach himself.

"I'm getting old," said he. "And I have all the money I want, so why continue? I got a new 1915 car, a dental office that pays good money, and what more could I want? Anyhow, I want to retire with the old glory. No sticking in the game until some youngster makes me king of the ring. I'm going to get out while the getting is good."

Sport Snap Shots MORRIS MILLER

Feeling has been so aroused by the rotten umpiring in the National League that pressure is being brought to bear on the powers to get Hank O'Day, one of the greatest umpires that ever handled an indicator, back into the game. For some mysterious reason he has been under the ban and couldn't land a job. From a close friend of President Tener of the National League comes the tip that Hank will be back in harness before the season is over.

The cords in the biceps of Jim Jeffries' arms are tightening up again and the ex-champion never does any boxing nowadays at all. Eight or ten years ago the trouble first came on him and athletic exercise of any kind was prevented. Now the trouble's back.

Athletic statistics show that the small sprinter is very fast away from the mark, but slow at the finish, while the tall, strong athlete is just at the finish but slow for the first thirty yards. The latter must pay the greatest attention to his start and getting into motion rapidly, while the former must lengthen out his stride to give him the necessary finish.

Frenzied finance and attempting to minor leagues throughout the country prosper and live through at least one season," is the way O'Neill puts the matter.

Ever hear of a pitcher using too much stuff and too frequently? That's what two Cleveland hurlers are doing this season, according to many members of the Boston Red Sox. They assert that Guy Morton and Fritz Coumbe are such hard workers that they put everything they have on every ball they serve to a batter. As a consequence they say that Coumbe tires before the ninth inning and they predict Morton will do the same soon, though they say his fine physique now helps him out.

Freddie Welsh, lightweight champion, says Joe Rivers and Charlie White, lightweighters, are front runners. They fight best only when winning. "Both Rivers and White are easy for me because I keep laboring them at the start," says Welsh. "That takes the heart out of them. Neither is much good when losing. They fight like champions, though, if they get off to a good start and have things their way. I have made a study of both boxers and know just how to figure them."

Joe Shugrue, lightweight, who nearly went blind after boxing Johnny Griffiths at Akron last, but now seems in danger of losing his mind. At least that's what the cynical persons say after seeing Shugrue on the stage. Oh, yes, the Jersey City man is an actor now. He plays the part of a town hero in love with the village belle. Of course he scores five or six knockouts and after summarily putting away the villain as he is about to kidnap Joe's sweetheart, the usual wedding bells are heard. It is said that Shugrue would be an excellent actor if he didn't have to do anything but fight. Incidentally, he plans to take up boxing again in the fall.

Oh, the users know what the Real Tobacco Chew does for a man—and lots of men want their friends to get in on the joy of the small chew that satisfies.

A little chew of pure, rich, mellow tobacco—seasoned and sweetened just enough—cuts out so much of the grinding and spitting.

THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW IS NOW CUT TWO WAYS!! W-B CUT IS LONG SHRED. RIGHT-CUT IS SHORT SHRED!!

Take less than one-quarter the old size chew. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just take a nibble of it until you find the strength chew that suits you, then see how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is the Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end. The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up. An excess of licorice and sweetening makes you spit too much.

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste.

BELETED PROGRAM.

The secretaries of the navy and the navy with their advisers are working on a belated military program which, it is estimated in some quarters, may call for appropriations amounting to $500,000,000. The gravity of the German situation, the increase of anarchy in Mexico and the general criticism of the nation's lack of military preparedness have combined to inspire the administration with a realization that something should be done, and now, at the eleventh hour, Mr. Wilson is preparing to recommend a comprehensive program to congress. There is every reason to fear, however, that if congress heeds this proposal great sums will be wasted. When President Wilson, by the exertion of his personal influence with congress, defeated the Gardner resolution calling for a thorough investigation of the military needs of the nation, he deprived himself and congress, and the public, of the available method of learning the needs of the country in advance of the expenditure of funds, of emphasizing certain abuses, some of them of long standing, which operate seriously to diminish the efficiency of the military establishment, and of acquiring information essential to the intelligent and economical expenditure of funds. Of course, one of the reasons why the president was so opposed to the Gardner resolution was his conviction that it would serve in a large measure to show the worse than inefficient administration the navy was receiving at the hands of Secretary Daniels. Moreover, such an investigation intelligently conducted would have exhibited the almost criminal folly of reviving certain southern navy yards which should have been abandoned in the interest of both efficiency and economy. But Mr. Wilson's southern friends wanted no such exposure and Secretary Daniels violently opposed it and so the Gardner resolution was killed—at what promises to be tremendous cost to the nation.

IN A NUTSHELL.

Almost at the same time that the charge is being made in the state, and without foundation, that Governor Philipp is trying to cripple the university extension department comes an inadvertent admission by a man on the payroll of this department of something that has long been suspected. It is, that at least part of the money that the taxpayers furnish for this laudable enterprise is used for political purposes. Grant L. Brightman, who is acting head of the University Publicity Bureau, made this statement in the presence of six reputable witnesses in Madison last week: "I am recommending that the appropriation for my department be doubled for the next two years and I think I am going to be successful. If I am I am going to put Governor Philipp and his administration out of business." Now let us quote from the budget prepared for the University of Wisconsin, upon which the next appropriations are being made. Under the head of Press Bureau appears the name of C. W. Holman with this notation in red ink: "Salary $200 per month. Charged to president's contingent." There is a further notation in red ink: "Holman, leave for two months. One month vacation. One month without pay." Mr. Brightman is occupying the position in the absence of Mr. Holman, who is in Europe. A typewritten note on the same page follows: "Mr. Holman's salary is charged against administration. He is attached to the University Extension, which pays for his stenographer, assistants and office maintenance." No one at the university seems to know the press bureau costs. The question arises whether the taxpayers want this sort of thing to continue. No one wants to cripple the university extension department, and least of all Governor Philipp. But it is a question whether the taxpayers are willing to dig down into their pockets to finance an aggregation of men like Brightman to put any administration out of business.

BE AN OPTIMIST.

Despite the rain, the day days, the unseasonable weather generally, the man who can go along and enjoy himself, do his daily task with a smile on his face is the true optimist. It is a rare gift, but one that should be cultivated as much as possible for it makes life worth while. Be an optimist. Look at the doughnut and see the whole affair and not only the hole.

Lift up your chin and grin and remember that if you smile someone else will smile, and then, someone else, and then shortly there will be miles of smiles and the day will seem brighter and you be happier. Be an optimist.

The Wisconsin legislature has voted for an increased appropriation for the Wisconsin National Guard. It is along the line of the United States government's request that arrangements be made to increase the national guard reserves throughout the nation and not with a view of increasing the burden of taxation in Wisconsin.

It is all right for the German alliance to condemn the sale of munitions of war to the allies, but from the workman's point of view it is wrong. The full dinner pail counts for something after all.

General Villa has begun to feel that he is bigger than the whole United States. Perhaps he is just now in his own estimation, but wait until later returns arrive and action really begins.

Philipp is still on the job up at Madison. He is doing his best to reduce taxes but the "tax-eaters" are most insistent of their rights to increase the taxpayers' burden as much as possible.

There is serious talk of investigating the umbrella trust in view of the fact that it intimated that an unlawful combination has been between this organization and the weather bureau.

Excitement is a drug on the market just at present. There is so much of it that it is not worth while reading how many thousands were killed yesterday or may be killed tomorrow.

We are told that prosperity has returned from its vacation. Perhaps it is the thought that shortly the republican party will again be in control that induced it to come back.

In remaining a progressive with such persistence it is barely possible that Colonel Roosevelt may soon be classed in the ranks of the "stand-patters." Think of that?

LONDON LIFE GOES ON WITHOUT CHECK DESPITE THE WAR

While Paris is Quiet, London City Suffers Very Little from the Struggle—Gaiety is Kept Up.

(By Associated Press.)
 London, Aug. 5.—One of the paradoxes of the war is the visiting of Parisians to London for a bit of excitement and gaiety. Paris is nothing like its old self, for its theaters are closed, motor buses at the front most of its taxis laid up and a large number of its hotels closed. But London has sacrificed but little of its old life. Hotels are full, tea rooms and restaurants as ever, theaters and revues, well attended, and the Hyde Park and upper Thames have their usual crowds of holiday makers.

But this does not mean that London does not feel the war. The hotel guests are mainly purchasing agents for the allied powers, visiting attaches on official business, and agents for American factories looking for supply contracts. Comparatively few of the younger men seen in the fashionable tea places and restaurants wear civilian clothes. Khaki is also the prevailing color among the men at the revues. The "Piccadilly knut," as the young men who set the fashions are called, has largely disappeared from his old haunts.

London's gaiety is in one sense largely kept up by the war. Men living the hard routine of duty at the training camps or at a life of constant danger at the front seem to find a complete change and rest of mind in a frivolous show as in nothing else. The first idea of a wounded man on getting out of the hospital is a round of restaurants and variety halls. Officers and enlisted men with arms in slings and on crutches are sights too common there to attract more than passing notice.

Curiously enough, the new dramas based on the war, except a few spy plays, have had no support at all and were soon taken off. Yet a French company giving a series of short plays nightly has met a great success because of its thrillers—tales of concentrated horror. Comedies of the light-society kind have failed to attract while those with real humor and well drawn characters have enjoyed uninterrupted runs. A season of Russian and disastrous close, and the popular and eastern orchestral "proms" in Albert Hall were discontinued for lack of support. Concerts on the whole do not seem, however, to have suffered greatly for the war.

Fashionable life has merely transformed its activities. Instead of private affairs, society gives benefits, ranging from gala theatrical performances with royal patronage to fairs for British charities but for Belgian, French, Russian, Serbian and Italian relief funds.

While London has lost its German and Austrian colony, it is so filled with Belgians that Flemish and French signs can be seen in shop windows all over the city. Many French families have come over also. There was a long season of French Belgian comedy, played by a company from Brussels with the best talent of the country. Mme. Rejane and a Parisian company has a successful run in repertory and another French company now has a theater.

RHEUMATISM CURED

Doctor Partier of California, who has given the treatment to thousands says: "THE MILK DIET TREATMENT can be applied to Rheumatism with the greatest confidence in a successful outcome. I have never seen nor heard of a return of any manifestations of rheumatism in any one who has taken the Milk Cure."

There is no form of rheumatism, acute or chronic of bones or muscles, so far as I know, that cannot be treated successfully by the milk diet. I have treated several cases of rheumatoid arthritis with badly arched, stiffened joints and, to my surprise, at least two patients recovered movement in joints which I had thought permanently stiff. Professor Wier Mitchell also states that the milk and rest treatment will cure rheumatism.

I am prepared to give this treatment.

STATE COUNCIL BILL PASSES THE SENATE

SKOGMO MEASURE NOW GOES TO THE ASSEMBLY BY A VOTE OF 15 TO 10.

BICHLER BILL KILLED

Senate Puts in an Active Day Yesterday—Senator Bray in Fight to Repeal Law for Reducing Tax on Grain.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—The passage of the Skogmo bill creating a state council to supercede the state board of public affairs and the killing of the Bichler bill restoring the state convention to the Wisconsin political system, marked the significant work of the state senate yesterday afternoon. The latter measure failed by a vote of 13 to 6, with six pairs, and the state council plan was approved and sent to the assembly by a vote of 15 to 10, as follows:

For the bill—Barwig, Bichler, Bossard, Bray, Culbertson, Rivers, Jennings, Monk, Mulberger, Potts, Staudenmayer, Stevens, Weisleder—15.

Against—Acley, Albers, Baxter, Bennett, Cunningham, Hanson, Kellogg, Martin, Perry, Whitman—10.

Members on Council.

The members of the state council will be the governor, secretary of state, state treasurer, attorney general, state superintendent of public instruction, insurance commissioner, the commissioner of agriculture, the commissioner of industry, the commissioner of food and health, and the president of the state board of health. Monthly meetings shall be held. It shall make a summary of the finances of the state and its subdivisions, shall bring up and report on the correlation of the work of all departments of government; may devise for public bodies uniform systems of accounts; may determine and put in force a plan of classification and gradation of the classified state service, a plan for salary limitations and a plan of promotion between grades and classes, and shall investigate and report on the feasibility of the establishment of a central department of purchases for all public bodies. It is allowed $15,000 a year for two years.

Subcommittee of Five. The bill also provides for a subcommittee of five members of the joint finance committee to sit between the legislative committee on finance, which shall prepare a budget and investigate the financial condition and needs of the departments of government. Its members shall be allowed $3 per day during each session of the legislature, and the committee is given $10,000 to conduct its inquiries and pay its help.

Two substitutes to the bill were disposed of before the senate adopted the finance committee's report. The senate endorsed the bill approving $35,000 annually for the attorney general's department, and left the appropriation for the department of public instruction intact. In other words, it killed the finance committee bill which reduced its last appropriation from $75,775 annually to $60,000. This leaves the department its old grant of that amount, together with $150,000 annually for the state board of industrial education. Senator Albers, who has been losing fight against the bill giving the state board of bar examiners $2,100 annually, passed 21 to 2. It was settled to the satisfaction of all that the state treasurer will receive the fees hereafter to be assessed against candidates for the bar examination.

Albers Bill Killed. The Albers bill placing the Wisconsin Industrial School for Girls, Milwaukee, under the supervision of the state board of control was defeated. The senate advanced to third reading the Crosby bill creating a marketing department of the dairy and food commission, and the Wisconsin bill appropriating $513 to Wisconsin county, erroneously paid by the county treasurer into the state treasury between January 1, 1903, and December 31, 1914.

Senator Bray made a persistent fight for his bill to repeal chapter 209, laws of 1915, known as the Hodding bill, reducing the tax on grain. He insisted that the new law would reduce the state's revenue from this source, that it would permit such tax to be used as an offset against the income tax, and that seedsmen will claim that seeds come under the classification of grain and as such being practically exempt from taxation. To allow an amendment to which Senator Bossard agreed, providing against the classification of seeds as grain and against the tax on grain tax except as an offset to the income tax, the bill went over.

Debate on Measure. Senator Baxter asserted the motive for the bill was to place Wisconsin in more advantageous position with neighboring states, especially Minnesota, whose grain taxes are notably lower. The effect of imposing higher rates on Wisconsin grain in elevators he said, was to drive such industries to other states. Senator Bossard opposed the repeal bill, but favored the amendments suggested by Mr. Bray. Senator Bray made the point in his discussion that the new law lowers the taxes of maltsters and brewers who are not in competition with Minnesota, thus depriving the Wisconsin treasury of revenue rightfully due the state. He quoted to prove the large grain firms in Milwaukee will escape with a greatly reduced tax because of the new law. Senator Bossard believed that the cases quoted were exceptions to the rule.

SENATE BULL MOOSE FIGHT LOWER TAXES AND HINDER PHILIPP

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE)

Upper House Progressives Making Big Fight to Discredit Administration of Governor.

(By B. K. Pratt.)

Madison, Wis., Aug. 4.—Are the people of the state of Wisconsin going to stand for the bunko game that certain politicians are trying to play over them? This is the question asked here at the capitol as the legislature opened its session today. For until then the voters will have nothing to say in fact, it is doubtful if they ever understand the true status of affairs at the present time. There are certain outstanding facts, however, that no amount of political hot air can wipe out. One of these facts is that Gov. Philipp has been elected the members of the assembly were elected on a platform that promised a reduction of taxes. This was the direct command of the voters and yet in the very first session of the legislature the senate there is found a crowd of elected officials, who are doing all in their power to prevent the governor from keeping his promise. These legislators are the remnants of the old progressive machine and they are proving themselves to be reactionaries of the worst type.

This is nowhere better illustrated than in their siver on the state finances. Here is what has actually happened. The state in 1914-15 actually spent $13,413,704.73. The department of agriculture, however, requested for 1915-16 the sum of $70,275 or approximately $3,000,000 more than was spent the previous year. These requests went to the finance committee and some cutting was done. Examination of the finance committee figures did not convince Gov. Philipp that the policy of reduction had been followed. With Speaker Whitteer of the assembly and others he went over the bills as recommended. And he found that while the appropriations had been reduced, the department was still getting more than they did the year before. It did not appeal to him that his would result in any reduction in taxes. The governor then ascertained just how much each department had spent in 1915.

On this basis amendments to the finance committee recommendations will be introduced. Under these amendments the state departments are given approximately just what they have spent last year. They have not been out below that figure and yet the progressives are shouting that the state is being crippled. In return the question is asked: How can it be crippled when all departments are given lower appropriations than they asked for some $1,000,000 less? The point is that the heads of state departments always ask for more than they expect to get from the finance committee. For instance for 1915-16 they asked for some $1,000,000 less than they did not expect that sum. It has been Governor Philipp's idea that if there should be a retrenchment that would actually help the taxpayers. The state and not a mere cutting down of exorbitant requests.

In their campaign to prevent the governor from carrying out his pledge to reduce taxes, the progressives are first the university extension work. Let the word go out that this department was a crippled one. If this is so then the university extension work was crippled in 1915. If it is not so, then the state is to spend more this year than last year, especially when there is a lower state appropriation fund of some $2,000,000 to meet? The question is the first argument, however, it is the plan and purpose of the progressives to stop this lower tax business.

When the Whitteer amendment cutting the state board of control from some $400,000 was up before the assembly, Progressive Newcomb Spoor and Progressive Mortensen were loud in their protests. They said it was a similar situation? Here were representatives of the people, who fought against the reduction of an appropriation in the face of a state department which was in the midst of control that the sum named in the amendment would be sufficient. Because this man was willing to try and economize in his department, he was accused of playing politics, because the governor is trying to lower taxes, he is accused of the same thing.

Futility of Flattery. Nothing is ever gained by flattery. To the serious man flattery in the form of sincere praise makes him more responsible and only sadder, because he knows how much he falls below what is expected of him and what he expects of himself. Lip flattery makes a real man feel as though his sex had been mistaken, he feels as though he had been given curling tongs instead of a razor for his morning toilet.

THREE CHILDREN DIE IN COTTAGE FIRE AT A DELAVAN RESORT

Cottage on Highland Hotel Grounds Destroyed With Loss of Life.—Ten Other Buildings Burned.

In a fire which destroyed eleven cottages in the vicinity of the Highland Hotel, Delavan, three children of George Bryant of Racine lost their lives and a property loss estimated at twenty thousand dollars resulted. The fire broke out in the cottage rented by Mr. Bryant from the Highland Hotel and spread rapidly north to the row of cottages just outside the hotel grounds. It is believed the blaze originated from an overheated chimney flue which had been used in the cottage during the winter. The three victims were Helen, aged nine, Lucy, aged six, and Mary, aged three. Mr. Bryant is the Racine representative of the Chicago Rubber Clothing company and his family was at the lake for a vacation.

When the fire started the parents and two elder daughters were at the hotel. The children were asleep in the upper story of the cottage. The heat and flames aroused them from their slumber and their piercing cries brought the first alarm. A number of vacationists on that side of the lake.

They appeared in an upper window but were powerless to help themselves. The entreaties of spectators and the cries of the distressed parents for them to jump were unheeded. The children clung together, one by one, and finally fell back into the room. All the frantic pleading did not induce the children to take the leap.

Frenzied men, spurred to desperation by the violence of the flames, dashed into the burning building in an effort to reach the children who were trapped by the flames which had consumed the entire lower portion of the cottage.

Later the bodies, charred beyond recognition, were found in the ruins. They were the Bryant cottage which was the only one owned by the hotel. The fire spread north at an alarming rate. In all, more cottages were consumed by the flames. The fire spread from the hotel to the cottages which were not damaged by the flames. The fire spread from the hotel to the cottages which were not damaged by the flames.

Seeing that the entire shore line of cottages might be wiped out, three fire engines were dynamited to stop the flames. Estimates of the damage placed the total loss close to $20,000. The fire occurred but half a block from the Highland hotel but this structure was not damaged. The fire spread from the hotel to the cottages which were not damaged by the flames.

Racine, August 4.—Three hundred employees of the Chicago Rubber Clothing company were turned away when they reported for work this morning. The company has been closed as a result of the burning to death of the children of George G. Bryant, president of the concern.

Arrangements for the funerals to be held from the residence, are being made.

Walter Martin Robbed by Two Highwaymen at Cemetery Station at Nine-Thirty Last Night.

Walter Martin, conductor on the Janesville-Traction company, was held up and relieved of his gun, watch and six or seven dollars in money by two thugs armed with revolvers. The robbery took place on the car lines on North Washington street at the cemetery station. The robbery is said to have taken place about nine o'clock last night while Martin was sitting alone in the car and out of the line before starting on the return journey.

When the report was received at the police station, a search was made in the surrounding district. An hour after the hold-up, but this failed to bring results. As Martin was sitting alone in one end, two young men came into the car and taking out their revolvers, advanced toward the conductor with the demand to hand over his money and watch. The conductor's pockets netted between six and seven dollars, but the thieves did not stop to take the money from the cash collector. After obtaining the money and watch the two men ran across the fields and disappeared.

Both were described as being between the ages of twenty-one and twenty-two years, well dressed, and of medium build. The police this morning were inclined to look upon the robbery with the suspicion of learning that a man had been sitting at the station building near the car tracks and had not seen or heard anything of the robbery.

Several burglary scares were experienced from residents last night, but investigation showed them to be false alarms. At one house the appearance of a burglar against the building brought about the burglary alarm, but the investigating patrolmen found no cause for the alarm.

CHAPTER XXIII.

Gail First:

Allison, springing forward with a jerk as he left Jim Sargent's house, headed his long, low runabout up the avenue. He raced into the park, and glanced up at the lookout house as he sped on past; but it was only a fleeting look. He needed no reminder of Gail. As he passed Roseleaf Inn, he slowed down. The roadhouse may have given him, and probably did, another reminder of Gail, in such a manner as to concretize him into logical thought; for he slowed down the terrific speed which had been the accompaniment of his unreasoning emotion. The driving required too much concentration for specific thought.

With this turning of his mental attitude, even the slow running of the car seemed to disturb him, and, about half a mile past Roseleaf Inn, he came slowly to a stop, sitting at the wheel, with his head bent slightly forward, and staring at the spot where the roadway had ceased to roll beneath his machine. Presently he became aware of the cold, and running his car to the side of the road, he stepped out, and, buttoning his coat around him, crossed a fence and walked through the narrow strip of trees to the river bank, where he stood for a moment looking out upon the misty Hudson, sparkling under the moonlight. He began to walk up and down the bank presently, the turf sinking spongy under his feet, and it was noticeable that his pace grew more and more rapid, until he was striding at a furious rate of speed.

The man was in a torment of passion. He had spent a lifetime in the deliberate acquisition of everything upon which he had set his will; and it was one of the things upon which he had built his success, that, once he had fixed his desire deliberately upon anything, he had held unwaveringly to that object, employing all the forces of which strong men are capable; patient waiting, dogged persistence, or vicious grappling, whichever was best adapted to gain his ends.

Gail! If there had been tender thoughts of her, they were gone now. It was so that he had centered his mind upon her, and himself and his will, until, in all creation, there was nothing else but that was trivial, ambition, power, wealth, fame, the command of empires and of men, were nothing, except as they might lead to her.

So it was that he had come this far, and the roadway to his present height was marked by the cripples he had left behind him, without compunction, without mercy, without compassion. Bankrupts strewn his way, broken men of purpose higher than his own, useful factors in the progress of human life, builders and creators who had advanced the interest of the commonwealth, but who had been more brilliant in construction than they had been in reaping the rewards of their building. It was for Allison to do this. It had been his specialty; the reaping of rewards. It had been his faculty to permit others to build, to encourage them in it, and then, when the building was done, to wrest it away from the builders. That marked him as the greatest commercial genius of his time; and he had much applause for it.

Women. Yes, there had been women, creatures of a common mold with whom he had amused himself, had taken them in their freshness, and broken them, and thrown them away; this in his earlier years. But in his maturity, he had bent all his strength to a greater passion; the acquisition of all those other things which men had wanted and held most dear, among them acquisition, and power, and success. Perhaps it had been bad for him, this concentration, for now it left him at the height of his maturity, with mistaken fancies, with long pent fires, with disproportionate desires. Bringing to these, he had the tremendously abnormal moral effect of never having been thwarted in a thing upon which he had set his mind, and of be-now, which centered itself upon one object, and one alone. Gail! She was his new summit, his new peak, the final one where he had planned to rest; but now his angry thought was to attain it, and spurn it, broken and crumbled, as had been all the other barriers to his will, and press ruthlessly onward into higher skies, he knew not where. It was no time now, to think on that. Gail first!

CHAPTER XXIV.

The Flutter of a Sheet of Music.

Gail, in a pretty little rose-colored morning robe, with soft frills of lace around her white throat and at her white elbows, sat on the floor of the music room amid a chaos of sheet music. She was humming a gay little song suggested by one of the titles through which she had leafed, and was gradually sorting her music for the yacht party; instrumental pieces here, popular things there, another little pile of old-fashioned glees which the assembled crowd might sing, just here a little stack of her own solos, nearby the rector's favorites, between the two their duets. It was her part in one of the latter she was humming now, missing, as she sang, the strong accompaniment of Rev. Smith Boyd's mellow voice. She was more peaceful this morning than she had been for many days.

The butler came through the hall, and Gail looked up with a suppressed giggle as she saw him pass the door. She always had an absurd idea that his hinges should be oiled.

"Miss Gail is not at home, sir," she heard the butler say, and Gail paused with a sheet of music suspended in her hand, the whole expression of her face changing. She had only given instructions that one person should receive that invariable message.

"I beg your pardon, sir!" was the next observation Gail heard, in a tone of as near startled remonstrance as was possible to the butler's wooden voice.

There was a sound almost as of a scuffle, and then Allison, with his top coat on his arm and his hat in his hand, strode to the doorway of the music room, followed immediately by the butler, who looked as if his hair had been peeled a little bit at the edges. Allison had apparently brushed roughly past him, and had disturbed his equanimity for the balance of his life.

Gail was on her feet almost instantaneously with the apparition in the doorway, and she still held the sheet of music which she had been about to deposit on one of the piles. Allison's eyes had a queer effect of being sunken, and there was a strange nervous tension in him. Gail dismissed the butler with a nod.

"You were informed that I am not at home," she said.

"I meant to see you," he replied, with a certain determined insolence in his tone which she could not escape. There was a triumph in it, too, as if his having swept the butler aside were only a part of his imperious intention. "I have some things to say to you to which you must listen."

"You had better say them all, then, because this is your last opportunity," she told him, pale with anger, and with a quaver in her voice which she would have given much to suppress. He cast a look on her which amazed her. He had not slept since he had seen her last. He smiled, and the smile was a snarl, displaying his teeth. Something more than anger crept into Gail's pallor.

"I have come to ask you again to marry me, Gail. The matter is too vital to be let pass without the most serious effort of which I am capable. I cannot do without you. I have a need for you which is greater than anything of which you could conceive. I come to you humbly, Gail, to ask you to marry me."

For just a moment his eyes had softened, and Gail felt a slight trace of pity for him; but in the pity itself there was revulsion.

"I cannot," she told him.

"You must!" he immediately rejoined. "As I would build up an empire to win you, I would destroy one to win you. You spoke last night of what you called the cruelty and trickery of the building up of my big transportation monopoly. If it is that which stands between us, it shall not do so for a moment longer. Marry me, and I will stop it just where it is. Why, I only built this for you, and if you don't like it, I shall have nothing to do with it." In that he lied, and consciously. He knew that the moment he had made sure of her his ambition to conquer would come uppermost again, and that he would pursue his dream of conquest with even more ardor than before, because he had been refreshed.

"That would make no difference, Mr. Allison," she replied. "I told you last night that I would not marry you because I do not, and could not, love you. There does not need to be any other reason." There was in her an inexplicable tension, a reflex of his own, but, though her face was still pale, she stood very calmly before him.

The savageness which was in him, held too long in leash, sprang into his face, his eyes, his lips, the set of his jaws. He advanced a step towards her. His hands contracted.

"I shall not again ask you to love me," he harshly stated; "but you must marry me. I have made up my mind to that."

"Impossible!" Angry now and contemptuous.

"I'll make you! There is no resource I will not use. I'll bankrupt your family. I'll wipe it off the earth."

Gail's nails were pressing in her palms. She felt that her lips were cold. Her eyes were widening, as the horror of him began to grow on her. He was glaring at her now, and there was no attempt to conceal the savage cruelty on his face.

"I'll compromise you," he went on.

"I'll connect your name with mine in such a way that marriage with me will be your only resource. I'll be an influence you can't escape. There will not be a step you can take in which you will not feel that I am the master of it. Marry you? I'll have you if it takes ten years! I'll have no other end in life. I'll put into that one purpose all the strength and all the will that I have put into the accomplishment of everything which I have done; and the longer you delay me the sooner I'll break you when I do get you."

Out of her very weakness had come strength; out of her overwhelming humiliation had come pride, and though the blood had left her face waxen and cold, something within her discovered a will which was as strong in resistance as his was in attack. She knew it, and trembled in the knowledge of it.

"You can't make me marry you," she said, with infinite scorn and contempt.

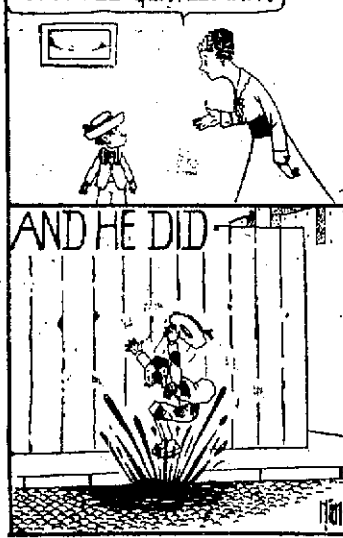

He clenched his fists and gritted his teeth. Into his eyes there sprang a blaze which she had never before seen, but dimly, in the eyes of any man; but she needed no experience to tell her its despicable meaning. His lips, which had been snarling, suddenly took a downward twitch, and were half parted. His nostrils were distended, and his blood, flooding into his face, emporpured it.

"Then I'll have you anyhow!" he hoarsely told her, and his arms tensed and his head slightly lowered forward. He made as if to advance toward her. He saw in her frightened eyes that she would scream, but he did not know that at that moment she could not. Her heart seemed to have lost its action, and she stood, trembling, faint, in the midst of her strenuous music, with the sensation that the room was turning dark.

THIRD ANNUAL RALLY AT CLEAR LAKE FARM TO BE HELD AUG. 8TH

Former Janesville Pastor of All Souls' Church Will Make Annual Visit Sunday.

The Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones will make his annual pilgrimage to his Lincoln Center annex at Clear Lake, a short distance from Milton Junction, on Sunday, Aug. 8th, this year. It will be the third annual rally at the camp where so many Chicago tenement children are having the time of their lives at the present time.

A special program of numbers of considerable importance has been arranged for the day. At eleven o'clock in the morning a peace flag will be raised. Following two new dormitories will be dedicated. These buildings have been erected through the efforts of Janesville people, former members of All Souls' congregation of which the Rev. Jenkin Lloyd Jones was pastor, forty years ago in this city. During the dedicatory ceremonies addresses will be made by Judge Rogers of Port Atkinson and Senator Cunningham of Beloit.

At 12:30 there will be a basket dinner on the spacious lawn. There is plenty of space in the tract for thousands of visitors. It is of forty acres in extent and park with many large and beautiful trees.

Rev. Jones will speak at two o'clock during the afternoon. His topic will be "Above All Nations is Humanity." Music will be furnished by local talent; choruses of the children now at the camp.

Citizens of Rock and Jefferson and surrounding counties are learning to look forward to this annual visit of the originator of the Lincoln Center movement to his Clear Lake annex. Last year between three and four hundred spent the day on the grounds.

Roger Cunningham to Defend Alleged Burglar in Trial the 12th.—

Other Court News.

Frank Leonard, the transient, plead not guilty to the charge of night burglary in the municipal court this morning when arraigned to answer the complaint filed by District Attorney S. G. Dunwiddie. Leonard is charged with a state's prison offense. He applied for an attorney, and Roger Cunningham was appointed to defend him in his trial. Leonard was taken by the police for the several robberies at the Kennedy flats and Soviet residence a week ago. The trial was set for August 12th at ten o'clock, and Leonard was committed back to the county jail.

Michael Boyle of Cookstown plead guilty to the charge of assault and battery in court this morning, but on the recommendation of the district attorney sentence will not be passed on him until testimony is taken in the case to ascertain the facts. The complaint was made by John Johnson and William Daulton. Boyle signed his own bail bond for one hundred and fifty dollars. The case was set for Saturday morning.

Final decision was made by Judge Maxwell in the case of John Almain, charged with wife desertion, on account of the absence of the defendant's attorney. The case was adjourned until Friday, when the decision will be made on the motion to dismiss the action following the examination held on Tuesday afternoon.

FIND ANOTHER ELK'S PIN IN CELL AT POLICE STATION

Inspection of the private cell at the city hall police station revealed another Elk's lodge pin, which it is supposed James Renaker, the alleged forger, secreted there during his imprisonment. This is the second Elk's pin that Renaker had. Daily the police are more convinced that the man used this system in passing worthless checks.

At the county jail, Renaker requires the attention of a physician at least twice a day, suffering from the morphia habit. His nerves are badly shattered, because he is unable to obtain the required amount of the drug to keep him in his normal state.

Before coming here from their home at Rensselaer, Indiana, they visited at Eastland, and while there the child was bitten by a dog. The bite was not considered serious at the time, but when it was learned that the dog became mad the Pasteur treatment for the little girl was decided upon, and their visit here was suddenly terminated.

TOBACCO PLANTS ARE STANDING RAIN FINE

Farmers Report That Tobacco Is Weathering Wet Season Best of Any Crop.—Rain Keeps Them from Field.

Although the rain has been more of a liability than an asset to the farmers who have tobacco plants this year, the general report from nearly points in the county are to the effect that tobacco is getting up the best stand against the super-abundance of rain.

Even at that the cold, wet nights are not doing the crops any particular good and Old Sol will be welcomed back with open arms. Up to the last week the weather had been ideal and the weeds had taken such a spurt that it was thought this year would outdo all previous ones in growth and stand.

The best weather conditions imaginable, prevailing for a fortnight, had produced great development in the Wisconsin tobacco crop. The first growthy plants of the year had appeared, with a couple of heavy rains besides, and the effect of this upon newly-set fields had been to bring plants forward so rapidly that the growth could almost be watched with the naked eye. Of course, the weeds were growing as rapidly as the tobacco, and in some cases more so, and farmers were in fields from dawn till dusk trying to give the tobacco the best chance it could get. Wisconsin leaf never looked finer at this time of the year.

The past week has put a crimp in the operations of the farmer, though, keeping him out of the fields right in the busiest time. It is a well known fact among tobacco growers that too much wet weather will ruin the crop, and unless the rain stops pretty soon we are bound to have "too much." The one bad feature about it is the fact that the plants are not getting the right kind of rain. The rain keeps on long enough even this trouble will be done away with, for it is seldom seen where there is a super-abundance of rain.

Aside from stemming there is very little doing about the warehouses now.

A more hopeful feeling pervades the manufacturing districts, which holders of old leaf trust will open up a demand for cured stock, that has not been enjoyed for some months past.

The shipments out of storage reach only about 300 cases to all points since last report.

AVAILANCE OF ROCKS USED BY ITALIANS AGAINST THE TEUTONS

Innsbruck, Tyrol, Aug. 5.—While both German and Italian troops are using with 42-centimeter cannon, and with weapons that are the last word in the art of the arms manufacturer, the Teutons who have been drawn into the war by the entry of Italy find that the weapons used in the Napoleonic wars are still effective, and are using them with what is reported as great success.

The old war has nothing less than huge boulders which they are rolling down, avalanche-wise, onto the Italians as the latter attempt to storm the frontiers. They are proving quite deadly as any shells have done in this war.

The avalanche of rocks was first used successfully in the battle of Belvedere on June 14th. The Italian forces consisted of gendarmes and Tyrolean sharpshooters, whose forefathers had fought a hundred years ago in the same place.

The third company of the 71st Italian infantry regiment began an attack on Belvedere, attempting to come up along the ravine of the Cima Norsa. Long before they were at the place, however, the downpour of boulders began.

Many of the Italians were killed at once, others were severely wounded, and that they were captured. Those who could scramble to one side of the ravine or the other, but only to become easy marks for the bullets of the Austrians.

Sergeant-major Reyner of the gendarmes, who inaugurated the stone avalanche plan, has been decorated with the golden bravery medal, the first of its kind to be bestowed on the Italian front.

THIRTY-THREE WAIFS ARRIVE HERE TODAY

Miss Eleanor King Accompanies Group of Fresh Air Children From Chicago This Morning.

Thirty-three happy children with smiling faces started on their trip this morning at the St. Paul station, under the care of Miss Eleanor King, intent on enjoying a two weeks' outing in Janesville. Each youngster, direct from the poorer Chicago districts, had his or her own clothing, perhaps most all that they owned, wrapped in small parcels which they could easily carry on their backs. At the station were Janesville people assembled for the purpose of taking some of the youngsters to their homes, where two weeks of solid comfort will be afforded them. Plenty of fresh air, sunshine and outdoor life will be free for all, and these promises to them before they left Chicago brought unto their faces pleasant smiles.

The children range in age from five to twelve years. Mrs. G. H. Merrill, 302 Linn street, is in charge of the delegation that came here, and requests that any clothing for "kiddies" will be gladly received during the next two weeks. IT PAYS THE FARMER AS WELL AS THE MERCHANT

WANTED—Man to work on farm. F.
L. Terwilliger, phone 5223 black.
5-7-21-3t.

Janesville Gazette,
Janesville, Wis.
Gentlemen:

The other day I invested in a want ad in your paper as I was in need of a man to help with the farm work. The small sum of 25c was necessary.

By the next noon after the first insertion, I had my man and since then have had answers to the ad from men sufficient to farm Janesville township. It sure "pays to advertise" in the Gazette.

Yours truly,
F. L. TERWILLIGER.

Dinner Stories

A well known lawyer was trying to make clear to a legal student the significance of the term "colored evidence," meaning that evidence which has been tampered with.

"The best illustration I can think of came within my observation not long ago," said the lawyer. "A physician had said to a fair patient:

"Madam, you are a little run down. You need frequent baths and plenty of fresh air, and I advise you to dress in the simplest, most comfortable clothes; nothing stiff or formal."
"When the lady got home this is how she rendered to her husband the advice given to her by the doctor:
"He says I must go to the seashore, do plenty of motoring, and get some new summer gowns."

Little Johnny's family moved into a new community and immediately little Johnny was seized by a pretty young woman and hauled off to Sunday school.

"John," sweetly remarked the young woman to her, "you know, of course, all about the Sabbath?"

"Yes, ma'am," was Johnny's rejoinder.

"Good," commented the teacher, with a pleased expression. "In what way does Sunday differ from the other days?"

"You sleep later and go shinin'," answered John with the air of one who knows.

"Those people who live in that swell house on the hill aren't a bit stuck up," remarked the teacher.

"Why, I thought they were too ground to notice anybody," said his wife.

"Not a bit of it," replied the butcher. "Every time I call there with my bill they ask me to call again."

THREE MILLIONS IN APPROPRIATIONS ARE PASSED IN SESSION

Only Two Votes in Opposition and It Takes Less Than Three Hours. Normal School Fund Passed.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Madison, Wis., Aug. 5.—Nearly $3,000,000 in appropriations were passed upon by the assembly yesterday afternoon in a session that lasted less than three hours. Without a word of debate and with only two votes in opposition, the assembly passed the bill appropriating $2,650,991 for the support and maintenance of the nine normal schools during the next biennial period.

It passed the bill appropriating $31,500 for the support of the Wisconsin Industrial Schools for Girls at Milwaukee; $5,000 for the improvement of the levees at Portage; $18,500 annually for the separate maintenance of agricultural experiment stations in northern Wisconsin; $5,000 for a hog cholera serum plant at the University of Wisconsin and prorated appropriations of $129,000 and $225,000 for building improvements, made two years ago, over the coming biennium.

Reduction from Schools. There is a reduction in the appropriations for the normal schools compared with two years ago, when the total appropriation was $3,023,296.97. The reduction this year is $372,215.85. Few building improvements will be made except at Oshkosh and Superior. The appropriation for operation at the La Crosse normal school is $76,095 for 1915 and $76,435 for 1917. An expenditure of $4,575 will be made each year at La Crosse for equipment, books, etc.

The total appropriation for the Milwaukee normal is $152,198 for 1915, and $161,463 for 1917. Of the amount recommended for the first year and $79,550 for the second year for capital improvements. Of these amounts $76,000 is allowed each year for rebuilding the main building. Parts of the building were built in 1869, 1870, 1888 and 1894. The appropriations for construction were granted by the 1913 legislature and this allowance of $75,000 for each year is for the purpose of continuing the total appropriations are $55,850 during 1916 and $61,500 during 1917; at River Falls, $38,524 for 1916 and $38,210 for 1917; at Stevens Point, $18,878 and $18,703 for the biennium and at Whitewater, $72,652 and $67,682 for the next two years.

The appropriations for the Superior normal school are $131,750 for 1916 and $118,500 for 1917. For improvements and buildings the bill carries the sum of $60,000 for 1916 and $45,850 for 1917. Of these amounts $40,000 each year is for the building of a training school and kindergarten training department.

Administration Fund. The appropriation for administration work is reduced from $42,340 to $24,000. In the past such items as insurance and printing have been charged to general administration, but these will not be charged against the individual schools. The committee in its report accompanying the finance committee bill recommends that the hiring of inspectors be discontinued and retained in the department for that purpose. The appropriations for normal institutes and summer schools are reduced from $9,500 annually to $6,650 for 1916 and $6,750 for 1917.

Senator Burke's bill to create an appointive county board of education was referred to the education committee for an amendment, after at which time the bill on the floor of the house had failed.

Favor More Salary. The assembly went on record in favor of increasing the salary of members of the legislature. By a vote of 64 to 16 it passed the Smith resolution to amend the constitution removing the present $500 constitutional limit. The Laing plumbing bill was passed by a vote of 41 to 38.

Just at the close of the session the bill appropriating $72,000 for the dairy and food commission was referred to the finance committee. Tuesday an attempt was made by Assemblyman Harrington to reduce this appropriation $37,000 for the biennium. Assemblyman Speer read a statement approved by Dairy and Food Commissioners Weigle, in which he opposed any reduction, saying that he had changed his mind, and that he had not made proper allowance for the increased efficiency of the department's employees.

NIGHT BATTLES OVER PASS INTO AUSTRIA

Swiss Soldiers Patrolling Border, Telling of Spectacular Fighting For Important Pass.

(Special to the Gazette.)

Geneva, July 5.—Swiss soldiers and guides bring some picturesque details of the fighting between Italy and Austria in the Alps around Stelvio Pass, 9,000 feet high, and the neighboring heights overlooking the Valtellina valley.

Stelvio Pass is an important backdoor entrance into Italy, threatening Milan. It was strongly fortified by the Austrians and manned by a large body of mountain artillery. The Italians have similarly fortified other passes nearby, and there are daily artillery duels, while at night the whole district is swept by searchlights. Swiss soldiers on sentry duty a few miles away keep constant watch over the scene. Near the point where the Swiss, Italian and Austrian frontiers meet there are several villages where the inhabitants all speak a half dozen languages and dialects.

The principal pass was buried under two feet of snow when war began between Austria and Italy, but the Austrian Alpinists cleared a path straight to the summit, and recently fighting has been taking place above the clouds, which cut off both sides from view of their bases and supporting artillery below, so that they have to depend for orders and instructions on the field telephone.

The Italian batteries on the lower ridges obtained the exact range of the summit of the pass after a few experiments, and they kept up a continual canonade, firing through the clouds, of course without seeing the result of their shots.

The Red Cross workers on both sides experience the greatest difficulty in reaching the wounded at isolated places in the upper ranges. The nurses in this district must qualify as skilled Alpinists.

Smugglers are making huge sums through dealings in tobacco, matches, salt, and other articles whose export is forbidden by all three countries. The smugglers have kept up a constant struggle with the customs women who climb many thousand feet into the passes with their little bundles of goods. The soldiers seldom insist on strict observance of the exportation rules in return for their wages. Young Swiss women are able to sell their five cent cigars at a profit of ten or fifteen cents each, although the price is scarcely exorbitant when it is considered that the young woman must make a trip of several miles along the most perilous mountain roads and run the risk of being shot as a spy in order to reach her market.

SEEK TO OBTAIN PART OF INDIA'S HOARDED CAPITAL FOR LOANS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] London, Aug. 5.—It is proposed to make the English war loan available for investment in India and thus open up a new source of hoarded capital in that country. India is a great reservoir of hidden gold and silver. Vast quantities of gold go to India from England, but very little ever comes back. The late Lord Rothchild, who made a long study of Indian finances, told a parliamentary committee that not a single one of the thousands of smooth gold bars sent to India had ever come back. He declared that a huge amount of money was locked up in the country which ought to be tapped and diverted to useful purposes.

In recent years, there has been a considerable flow of Indian capital into industrial enterprises and into internal loans there, but the flow remains small compared with the actual reserves.

In order to coax these out through the medium of the British loan, the people would have to be enabled to participate in the simplest possible way, and the idea would have to be explained and made popular. The Times declares that the only obstacle is the income tax, for Indian investors would apparently be required to pay this tax on their loan holdings twice over—both in India and in England.

Really a Serious Matter. Two neighbors had a long litigation about a few days, which they both claimed. The judge, wearied out with the case, at last said: "What is the use of making so much fuss about a little water?" "Your honor will see the serious nature of the case," replied one of the lawyers, "when I inform you that the parties are both milkmen."

The Genuine Fop. We have had attempts at foppery in America, but no real fops. A genuine fop, whether in art, in literature, or in customs, must have brains; ours have been merely effigies, foppery taking the dull commercial form of a great variety of raiment.
